

French contractor Alstom appears to be scaling back its work on the construction site of generator six of the