

The deficit of the RES special account amounts to 67.3 million euros at the end of May, according to Greek RES market operator. If 70 million euros required by law reserve is taken into account, the deficit rises to over 137 million euros.

CO2 emission right revenues for the RES special account dropped to 17 million euros in May, from 23 million euros a month earlier.

RES market operator has projected a RES special account deficit of 154 million euros at the end of 2020, or 224 million euros if 70 million euro reserve is included. It also forecasted a CO2 emissions right price average of 25 euros/ton for the second half and an average of 20 euros/ton for the entire year.