

KPMG Consulting was the only bidder in the tender for consultancy and quality control services for the construction of units 3 and 4 of Paks nuclear power plant. This was known in December, but it was published just last week in the Bulletin of Public Procurement. The value of procurement was originally estimated at 1.12 million eur, but the KPMG took over the job for 1.11 million.

Among the consultant's tasks is the organization of facility expansion, which involves designing and technological transformation, support in project management, preparing of decisions and economic analysis.
