

Mining company Bor: Not every foreign company is a suitable partner for mining exploration of precious metals

✘ Mining and smelting complex Bor rejected the offers of major corporations for strategic partnership. For a mine at a depth of two kilometers, 300 million of dollars is required. Mining and smelting complex Bor rejected the offers of some most powerful world mining corporations for joint geological research and later, strategic partnership during the exploitation of underground copper and gold deposits.
Blagoje Spasovski, managing director of