

Average electricity bill for households in April amounted to 29.05 euros, which is considerably lower than in the previous month.

Lowest average monthly consumption was recorded in Zabljak municipality (around 18 euros), while the highest consumption was in Kotor, where the average bill was about 36.15 euros. Some 0.51 % of consumers will receive bills above 150 euros, while 1.05 % households will receive bills ranging from 100 to 150 euros. 155,845 of regularly paying customers were granted a 10 percent discount.

Power utility EPCG also announced that the households consumed 87.07 million kWh in April, which is 9.5 % less than in April 2015, and about 20.6 % less than in the previous month, transmits Serbia-energy.eu