

Romanian subsidiary of German energy company E.ON has appointed new CEO - Claudia Griech, who took the position as of 1 May.

The statement from E.ON Energie Romania said that Griech will also be in charge of the client solutions, business-to-consumer (B2C) and business-to-business (B2B) segments of the company, as well as a member of the E.ON Romania board of directors.

Claudia Griech has been working in the company since 2015, in management, marketing and sales-related positions.

Also starting on 1 May, Andrei Stefanescu has been appointed as E.ON Energie Romania's deputy CEO.
